FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

In November 2018, the Fund's performance dropped by 0.87%, underperforming the benchmark by 0.39%.

The FTSE Bursa Malaysia Kuala Lumpur Composite Index (FBMKLCI) ended November down by 1.72% or 29 points to close at 1,679.86 points. On a year-to-date basis, the FBMKLCI is lower by 6.51%. During the month, the Ringgit was flat at MYR4.18/USD while the 10Y MGS rose by 5bps to 4.13%. Brent crude oil tumbled to USD58.71 per barrel, down by 22.2% M-o-M. November saw Khazanah selling a 16% stake in IHH to Mitsui Group. This could be part of the rationalisation programme by Khazanah to increase its contribution to the federal government. 3Q18 GDP came in lower than consensus forecast at 4.4% Y-o-Y, driven by domestic demand. Moody's affirmed the A1 domestic issuer and foreign currency senior unsecured ratings of Petronas, but changed its outlook to negative from stable. November saw foreign investors net sell RM0.70bil versus RM1.5bil in the previous month. Total outflow for 11M2018 amounted to RM10.7bil vs. net inflow of RM10.8b in 2017.

FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS (CONTINUED)

During the month, the sentiment in the local bond space continued to be mostly on a cautious tone. There was some selling pressure on the belly of the yield curve attributable to the increased supply (on the back of higher fiscal deficit). Overall, the MGS yield curve bear flattened with yields from short to belly rising by 2-7bps while the back end of the curve dropping by 2-5bps. The 3-, 5-, 10-year MGS yields closed higher at 3.70% (+4bps), 3.92% (+7bps), 4.16% (+3bps) respectively at end of November. Meanwhile, the longer tenure 15- and 30-year MGS ended lower at 4.55%(-5bps) and 4.92% (-3bps) respectively. On the economic front, Malaysia's 3Q18 GDP continued to moderate further to 4.4% YoY (2Q: +4.5% and consensus: +4.6%). Growth was dampened by negative net exports even as domestic demand picked up. Exports contracted 0.8% YoY (2Q: +2% YoY) due partly to supply side disruptions in the mining sector while aggregate domestic demand remained robust as it grew at a faster pace of +6.9% YoY in 3Q18 (2Q:+5.6%). October CPI accelerated to 0.6% YoY (matching consensus: 0.6%) from 0.3% YoY in September. The higher CPI was mainly driven by quicker gains in food and beverages and transportation costs. During the month, we saw the oil price hitting the 2018 low which has translated to Ringgit weakness with USDMYR breaking 4.2000 level for a brief period of time. As expected, BNM kept the OPR steady at 3.25% in its November meeting and the monetary policy statement was overall neutral. Policymakers maintained that domestic economy is on steady growth path but noted there is risk to growth from the global front amid trade tensions. Hence, we expect interest rate to stay pat on subdued inflation and moderating economic growth. Budget 2019 saw a delayed in fiscal consolidation path. 2018 fiscal deficit will widen to 3.7% of GDP (from 2.8%) and gradually reduce to 3.4% in 2019, 3.0% in 2020 and 2.8% in 2021.
