FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

The Fund was down 7.12% in MYR terms in June, outperforming the benchmark by 36bps. YTD, the Fund is down 15.70%, underperforming the benchmark by 153bps.

Developed markets had another volatile month on recession concerns. S&P 500 Index, MSCI Europe and MSCI Japan was down -8.3%, -7.7% and -2.7% MTD in local currency terms. The US Dollar continued to strengthen by 2.9%, with Euro and Japanese Yen depreciating by 2.3% and 5.5%, respectively.

The decline for manufacturing PMI accelerated for all developed markets as production and new orders fell on weak demand. US consumer sentiment continued to fall on concerns about inflationary pressure and weak economic outlook. Headline PCE continued to rise to record highs even though core PCE moderate slightly for US. Europe starts to see corporate earnings downgrades with forward 12m corporate earnings revised down by 0.8%. US earnings estimates are up 0.9%. Japan corporate earnings are estimated to increase by 1.4% in local currency term. But the positive earnings revisions mainly come from Energy and Materials Sector for US. As economy continue to slowdown, forward earnings would continue to be revised down.

We maintain neutral allocations to all developed markets as we expect to see continued headwinds for equity markets going forward: 1) concerns on global growth slowdown; 2) broad-based persistent inflation, central banks monetary tightening and a potential policy mistake by the US Fed; 3) conflict between Ukraine and Russia; and 4) weak demand from China and fears on renewed lockdowns. We think all these headwinds and lack of growth drivers would continue to weigh on markets in the short-term. Our underlying funds have focused on investing in quality companies with earnings visibility, at reasonable valuation.

RISKS

All investment carries some form of risks. The potential key risks include but are not limited to the following:

Market risk	Market risk refers to the possibility that an investment will lose value because of a general decline in financial markets, due to economic, political and/or other factors, which will result in a decline in the target fund's NAV.
Stock specific risk	Prices of a particular stock may fluctuate in response to the circumstances affecting individual companies such as adverse financial performance, news of a possible merger or loss of key personnel of a company. Any adverse price movements of such stock will adversely affect the target fund's NAV.
Country risk	Investments of the target fund in any country may be affected by changes in the economic and political climate, restriction on currency repatriation or other developments in the law or regulations of the countries in which the target fund invests. For example, the deteriorating economic condition of such countries may adversely affect the value of the investments undertaken by the target fund in those affected countries. This in turn may cause the NAV of the target fund or prices of units to fall.
Currency risk	As the investments of the target fund may be denominated in currencies other than base currency, any fluctuation in the exchange rate between the base currency and the currencies in which the investments are denominated may have an impact on the value of these investments. You should be aware that if the currencies in which the investments are denominated depreciate against the base currency, this will have an adverse effect on the NAV of the target fund and vice versa. You should note that any gains or losses arising from the fluctuation in the exchange rate may further increase or decrease the returns of the investment.
Fund manager's risk	Since the target fund invests into collective investment scheme managed by another manager, the fund manager has absolute discretion over the fund's investment technique and knowledge, operational controls and management. In the event of mismanagement of the fund and/or the management company, the NAV of the target fund, which invests into the fund would be affected negatively. Although the probability of such occurrence is minute, should the situation arise, Principal (S) will seek for an alternative collective investment scheme that is consistent with the objective of the target fund.

RISKS (CONTINUED)

All investment carries some form of risks. The potential key risks include but are not limited to the following:

Credit and default risk

Investments of the target fund may involve a certain degree of credit and default risk. Generally, credit and default risk is the risk of loss due to the counterparty's and/or issuer's non-payment or untimely payment of the investment amount as well as the returns on investment. Principal (S) aims to mitigate this risk by performing fundamental credit research and analysis to determine the creditworthiness of its counterparty and/or issuer.
