FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

- The broader MSCI Asia ex-Japan fell 2.9% as China swung between gains and losses in a volatile March. After facing losses throughout the year, Chinese equities rebounded higher after policymakers pledged to ensure market stability.
- The FBM100 index fell -0.4% in March, driven by profit-taking activities. Most sectors were trading water with the exception of reopening beneficiaries, which surged ahead of international border reopening in April.
- Foreign funds continue to pile into the local market with net inflows of RM6.4 billion YTD, mainly into banks and commodity stocks. This compares to an outflow of RM3.5 billion in 2021 when foreign investors shunned Malaysia equities.
- The construction sector gained after further details were announced on the MRT3 project. Large contractors with strong balance sheet may stand a better chance of winning turnkey projects and emerge as beneficiaries. Other companies that stand to benefit include building materials suppliers as construction picks-up.
- The government announced the allowance of a special EP withdrawal of up to RM10,000, the fourth round of such withdrawal since the pandemic first hit in 2020. Should there be a high take up, EPF may have to dispose its foreign holdings to meet these withdrawals, and may also limit their ability to invest in the domestic market. The government also announced that the minimum wage would be increased to RM1,500 starting in May. While full details are yet to be released, sectors that are reliant on low-skilled labour could be vulnerable to higher labour costs.

STRATEGY:

- The fund's fixed income exposure was slightly reduced to around 59%, while equity exposure was increased to around 32%.
- Malaysia's economy is set to rebound after full border opening effective 1st April. We have been positioned in beneficiaries of further economic reopening, which will lead to earnings recover in sectors such as tourism, aviation, and consumer. Markets have stabilized after more clarity from US Federal Reserves. Key risks to watch now remains the Russian-Ukraine conflict and the effect of commodity prices on inflation.
- BNM has revised the growth outlook for 2022 to factor in downside risks and has signaled a gradual reduction in monetary accommodation. Nonetheless, we opine BNM will monitor prospect of higher inflation and signs of financial market imbalances in upcoming MPC meetings. No change to our call for a 25-50bps hike in 2H2022. Risk-reward has turned attractive but we are mindful of the still elevated bond supply in 1H 2022. Hawkish US Fed and elevated UST would still result in domestic yields coming under pressure.
- Rates strategy: US Treasuries volatility and large bond supply will likely see a volatile rates environment - maintain a trading stance for government bonds
- Credit strategy: Prefer stronger and higher rated names, and to participate in primary issuances for better yield.
- Duration strategy: We take a more defensive stance and target for a short to neutral duration (0.8-1x of benchmark duration). We remain flexible to trade within duration the band to capitalize on opportunities.
- For equities, we are positive on banks, which is a clear beneficiary of economic growth, coupled with strong outlook on loan growth and asset quality. We also like technology companies, where we see value emerging after the recent heavy selloff, and which has strong earnings visibility driven by secular growth trends (e.g. 5G, EV, solar energy).

RISKS

All investment carries some form of risks. The potential key risks include but are not limited to the following:

Manager's Risk	This risk refers to the day-to-day management of the target fund by Affin Hwang which will impact the performance of the target fund. For example, investment decisions undertaken by Affin Hwang as a result of an incorrect view of the market or any non-compliance with internal policies, investment mandate, the deed, relevant law or guidelines due to factors such as human error, fraudulent, dishonesty or weaknesses in operational process and systems, may adversely affect the performance of the target fund.
Inflation Risk	This is the risk that your investment in the target fund may not grow or generate income at a rate that keeps pace with inflation. This would reduce your purchasing power even though the value of the investment in monetary terms has increased.
Credit/Default risk	Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness of the issuers of the investment (Sukuk and Islamic money markets instruments) and their expected ability to make timely payment of profit and/or principal. Any adverse situations faced by the issuers may impact the value as well as liquidity of the investment. In the case of rated investments, this may lead to a credit downgrade. Default risk relates to the risk of an issuer of the investment either defaulting on payments or failing to make payments in a timely manner which will in turn adversely affect the value of the investment. This could adversely affect the value of the target fund.
Counterparty risk	This risk concerns with the target fund's investment in Shariah-compliant derivatives where the other party in an agreement may default on the terms of the agreement. Generally, counterparty risk can be reduced by emphasis on credit analysis of the counterparty to determine its creditworthiness.
Interest rate risk	Interest rate risk refers to the impact of interest rate changes on the valuation of Sukuk. When interest rates rise, Sukuk's prices generally decline and this may lower the market value of the target fund's investment in Sukuk. The reverse may apply when interest rates fall. In order to mitigate interest rate risk, Affin Hwang will need to manage the debt portfolio taking into account the coupon rate and time to maturity of the Sukuk. Note: Interest rate is a general indicator that will have an impact on the management of the target fund regardless of whether it is a Shariah-based fund or otherwise. It does not in any way suggest that the target fund will invest in conventional financial instruments.
Stock Specific Risk	Prices of a particular Shariah-compliant stock may fluctuate in response to the circumstances affecting individual companies such as adverse financial performance, news of a possible merger or loss of key personnel of a company. Any adverse price movements of such Shariah-compliant stock will adversely affect the target fund's NAV.
Shariah-compliant warrants investment risk	The value of the Shariah-compliant warrants will depend on the pricing of the underlying security whereby the growth and performance prospect of the underlying security would consequentially affect the value of the Shariah-compliant warrants. In addition, the value of the Shariah-compliant warrants may decrease exponentially as the Shariah-compliant warrants approach their maturity date and the potential gains from a favourable price movement of the underlying security may be offset by aggressive time decay. Affin Hwang may consider unwinding these Shariah-compliant warrants if there are material adverse changes to its value with the aim to mitigate the risk.

RISKS (CONTINUED)

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk arises in two scenarios. The first scenario is where an investment cannot be sold due to unavailability of a buyer for that investment. The second scenario exists where the investment, by its nature, is thinly traded. This will have the effect of causing the investment to be sold below its fair value which would adversely affect the NAV of the target fund.

Currency risk

As the investments of the target fund may be denominated in currencies other than the base currency, any fluctuation in the exchange rate between the base currency and the currencies in which the investments are denominated may have an impact on the value of these investments. You should note that any gains or losses arising from the fluctuation in the exchange rate may further increase or decrease the returns of the investment.

Regulatory risk

The investments of the target fund will be exposed to changes in the laws and regulations in the countries the target fund is invested in. These regulatory changes pose a risk to the target fund as it may materially impact the investments of the target fund. In an effort to manage and mitigate such risk, Affin Hwang seeks to continuously keep abreast of regulatory developments (for example, by closely monitoring announcements on regulators' website and mainstream medias) in that country. Affin Hwang may dispose its investments in that particular country should the regulatory changes adversely impact the unit holders' interest or diminish returns to the target fund.

Country risk

Investments of the target fund in any country may be affected by changes in the economic and political climate, restriction on currency repatriation or other developments in the law or regulations of the countries in which the target fund invests in. For example, the deteriorating economic condition of such countries may adversely affect the value of the investments undertaken by the target fund in those affected countries. This in turn may cause the NAV of the target fund to fall.

Reclassification of Shariah status risk

This risk refers to the risk that the currently held Shariah-compliant equities in the target fund may be reclassified to be Shariah non-compliant in the periodic review of the equities by the Shariah Advisory Council of the Securities Commission Malaysia (SACSC), the Shariah Adviser or the Shariah boards of the relevant Islamic indices. If this occurs, Affin Hwang will take the necessary steps to dispose of such equities. There may be opportunity loss to the target fund due to the target fund not being allowed to retain the excess capital gains derived from the disposal of the Shariah non-compliant equities. Affin Hwang will be required to dispose of these equities immediately if the prices are above the purchase price. Should the prices be below the purchase price, Affin Hwang may choose to hold on to these holdings until the prices meet the purchase price. Nevertheless, should Affin Hwang decide to dispose of these equities below the purchase price, the target fund will be faced with the risk of realising its losses, thus negatively impacting the NAV of the target fund.
