FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

For the month of September, the Fund gained 0.05%.

The FTSE Bursa Malaysia Kuala Lumpur Composite Index ("FBMKLCI") fell 17.58 points or 1.0% in September as foreign institutions remained net sellers for the second consecutive month, selling RM0.7 billion. The FBMKLCI continued to prove resilient in absorbing negative shocks despite the rise of external uncertainties. August inflation jumped to 3.7% from 3.2% in July, pushed by the run-up in oil prices which saw the West Texas Intermediate closing up 9.4% at USD51.67 per barrel from USD47.23 per barrel a month earlier. As the higher inflation is cost-pushed, Bank Negara Malaysia ("BNM") kept the Overnight Policy Rate ("OPR") unchanged at 3.00%. Ringgit traded to a low of 4.1875 during the month before closing the month at 4.2205. On the ground, the 14th General Election ("GE14") newsflow is gaining traction.

Market continued in consolidation mode in September as investors watched for more evidence of a sustained global economic recovery. We are positioned for stronger forthcoming quarters leading into GE14, which we expect to occur in the first quarter of 2018. The upcoming pre-election budget is expected to be expansionary and people-centric. While the rebound in crude oil prices will provide some fiscal relief for the government, we believe fiscal discipline to be maintained. The risk to the market is if the US Federal Reserve tightens more aggressively or Trump's tax plan attracts repatriation of US overseas earnings, thus sparking portfolio outflows from Emerging Markets. However, we think that the risk of that is low at this point. We will stay invested, with our favoured sectors being e-commerce/logistics, tourism, and construction, with Government Linked Companies (GLC) reform remaining a structural market theme. We also seek ideas in personal consumption plays.

During the month, there were some outflows with the MGS yield curve seen moving generally higher across the curve. On 7 September, BNM kept the OPR unchanged at 3.00% at its seventh straight meeting. BNM expects domestic demand will remain the key driver of growth and overall growth in 2017 will be stronger than earlier expected. They also expect headline inflation to moderate on expectation of a smaller effect from global cost factors and underlying inflation to be sustained by more robust domestic demand in a contained manner. Economic data releases during the month were headline inflation data higher at 3.7% y-o-y in August, from 3.2% in July. This was mainly due to a faster increase in transportation costs amid higher fuel prices while prices of food and beverages also inched higher. Meanwhile, core inflation rose 2.4% in August 2017, compared with the same month of the previous year.

We continue to remain fully invested with focus on selective primary corporate bond issuance and exposure into the government securities when the opportunity arises.
